SCHWERIN'S OBJECTIONS TO THE WIRELESS

SAN FRANCISCO, August 4.—Jack Binns, the Cockney wireless operator who stuck pluckily to his apparatus during the trying hours following the collision of the big ocean liners Republic and Florida in the Atlantic ocean last January, and thus is said to have saved the lives of 1600 passengers, is no hero, never was and never will be, according to R. P. Schwerin, vice-president and general manager of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company.

"The story that Binns operated his wireless machine by storage batteries is unbecomingly untrue," declared Schwerin. "It requires the motors of a vessel to run the wireless telegraph; the motors require engines and the engines require steam. When the water struck the engine-room of the Republic the wireless machine was rendered useless and all the talk of Binns' heroic conduct was made out of whole cloth."

WILL NOT INSTALL WIRELESS.

In this wise Schwerin responds to the query:

"Will the Pacific Mail Steamship Company install wireless telegraph mechanisms upon its transpacific liners to safeguard the lives of passengers?"

The Pacific Mail vice-president declares with emphasis that wireless has not in any degree added to the safety of a single vessel, notwithstanding the fact that reports of the extraordinary efficiency of this latest application of electrical energy are being published daily.

Schwerin does not know of a single wreck that has been averted through the use of wireless mechanisms, and is of the opinion that the installation of the apparatus upon ocean-going vessels is for commercial purposes only.

"The only effect the wireless had upon the Republic and Florida collision was to instill confidence in the passengers by bringing numerous steamships to the aid of the disabled vessels. It could not possibly have aided the Columbia, which went down a year ago. The Columbia was rammed by a steam schooner, and went down in eight minutes. In what way could the wireless have aided the passengers of that steamer? I do not know of a single instance in which the wireless has contributed to the safeguarding of any vessel.

"It is true that we have considered installing wireless machines on the transpacific steamships, but the manufacturers have been unable to provide us with suitable apparatus. The present type, which is capable of sending a message only 500 miles, or possibly 1000 miles at night, is of no use to us. The manufacturers now advise us that they will furnish a two and one-half kilowatt machine which will send a message 1500 miles, but we, as a matter of fact, are waiting until they perfect a machine suitable to our needs.

"If we were now to install wireless on our Pacific steamers it would be of no advantage to any one. There are stations here and at Hawaii. There is one in Japan which has only recently been opened to the use of merchant steamers and only for the receipt of messages of distress. There is no wireless station in China. Therefore there naturally would be restricted to the United States and the Hawaiian islands.

On the Atlantic, where hundreds of business men are traveling in both directions and anxious to keep in touch with the stock markets and business conditions I consider the wireless important. But here our passengers are mostly in quest of health or of pleasure.

"On the Atlantic the wireless has been immensely popularized by the passengers, who find amusement in communicating with friends on nearby steamers. It is a fine amusement to wire back and forth from the steamers, and I think the bulk of the wireless business on the Atlantic comes from such intercourse. I fail to see that the wireless in any way protects a vessel from disaster.

"We don't care anything about reporting that our steamers are a few hundred miles out at sea or will arrive at a certain hour. They are run on railroad schedules, and their positions are determined with some degree of accuracy."

All of which is intended by General Manager Schwerin as an answer to an oft-repeated inquiry as to whether the big Pacific Mail liners will ever be equipped with wireless apparatus.

the Empire will be as cool as a place in the open.

AT THE THEATERS

The week thus far has been a good one for the Orpheum and the down town theaters. Although the days have been somewhat showery, the evenings have been fair, giving to the open air theaters just what they had been waiting and hoping for.

AT THE ORPHEUM.

The Orpheum continues to draw big audiences and the programs put on there are most pleasing. This afternoon and tonight the cavalry picture will be repeated and other features will go to make up an arrangement of vaudeville that would do credit to one of the biggest cities. The admission for the matinee this afternoon will be ten cents.

A RELIGIOUS PROGRAM.

A panoramic view of the city of Jerusalem and environs will be shown at the Art theater this evening. This is a religious set of views and, as they follow Biblical stories, should be of general interest. There will be other pleasing features and good music.

LEAR'S CURSE.

It is said of the motion picture film at the Park, the one showing the gems from Shakespeare's "King Lear," is so well done that one may almost hear the curse which the aged king puts upon his daughter. It is a fine bit of acting caught by the camera at a most opportune moment. The characters are all represented by well known actors and the costumes are quite up to the most finished production on Broadway. This film will be shown here for the first time tonight and should attract a large crowd. Yellowstone Park will continue as the feature of the pictures. It is a great picture and in every way educational. No child should fail to see it and hear the lecture at the same time. The other pictures and the vaudeville part of the program are good.

THE GEM TONIGHT.

Manager Kubey has arranged a specially fine program for his patrons at the Gem theater this evening. The Acetophone, which is now working perfectly, will again be used.

MAKING ALTERATIONS.

Manager Overend is making important alterations at the Empire, which will add greatly to the comfort of his patrons. Among other things the gallery seats are being rearranged so that from each one of them a perfect view will be had of the stage. Two immense, electric fan arrangements, one suction and the other to throw out the air, are to be installed, after which

MANY ARRIVALS BY THE KOREA

DISTINGUISHED VISITORS AND WELL KNOWN LOCAL PEOPLE BROUGHT FROM COAST.

The Korea, or the "Queen of the Pacific" as Captain Sandberg's vessel is known here, where she is the favorite ship of the Pacific Mail Company, arrived from San Francisco this morning, bringing a large passenger list for this city but with very little freight either for here or the Orient. Her local cargo amounts to 175 tons, while the Oriental cargo is only 800 tons. She carries through $2,200,000 in specie, of which $2,000,000 is in gold and the remainder in silver.

The Korea brought down a large passenger list of kamaainas this time, as well as a number of notable visitors who will spend more or less time in this city. General Manager R. P.

Schwerin, of the Pacific Mail Company, accompanied by his wife and family, were among the arrivals. They will remain here till the sailing of the Manchuria on August 20.

M. H. DeYoung, the proprietor of the San Francisco Chronicle is another noted visitor. He is accompanied by his wife and two daughters. Mrs. Julius Kruttschnitt, the wife of the general manager of the Southern Pacific Railroad, is another visitor, accompanied by Miss Kruttschnitt.

C. T. Murray, who has been in the East at the Shriners' convention also returned this morning, as did Mr. and Mrs. William A. Love, who have been away for a long tour. E. C. Bradley, representing the Bell telephone systems, and accompanied by his wife are on the list, as well as Mr. Bradley's rival, C. P. Platt, the representative of the automatic. Mrs. Platt is also with her husband.

D. L. Withington returned today, as did Harry Bruns, W. H. Smith, Captain John Kidwell and Miss K. Ren-ton.

Be Not Deceived

There is only one cleanable Refrigerator and therefore GERM PROOF, and that is the Gurney Refrigerator handled by us.

No other make has ever stood the test and by means of the removable ice chamber as well as removable shelves, drain pipes, traps, etc., we have solved the problem.

Assail us where you will you cannot help but admit our claim. All other makes fail when it comes to keeping the ice chamber pure, sweet, clean and germ proof, but

THE GURNEY

Listen to idle talk and arguments put forth in favor of cleanable provision compartment. All refrigerators have this feature. You cannot deny that unless ALL COMPARTMENTS can be kept absolutely pure and wholesome that a refrigerator is germ-proof. Go from the provision chamber to the receptacle for the ice and it is here where all other makes fail. There's the weakness that cannot be overcome by them.

The Gurney with its removal Ice Chamber feature has supplied the great want and therefore.

Is the Only Cleanable

Come in and bring forth your arguments and if we fail to convince you we are ready to take your decision. A full line always on hand. They are used in almost every household. Do you possess one? If not why not, it costs no more than other makes.
